DOUBLE WEDDING.

Two Pretty Daughters of Wm. Remmick Given in Marriage.

Married at the residence of Wm. Remmick, on Locust avenue, on February 7, 1866, Mr. Jas. B. Kinney to Miss Mary Remmick and Mr. Paul W. Gault to Miss Irma Remmick, Rev. O. F. Williams officiating.

On Wednesday morning of this week old Boreas blew his arched blast and the air was of a chill nearly approaching the zero mark, but when did temptation still loving hearts of beauty or chivalry in choice of companions, "for better, for worse, for richer, for poorer?" An intimate knowledge of all the participants in this entertainment upon the sea of matrimony has kept quite satisfied public opinion that those matches were made by a direct fiat from the portals of Heaven, and at 8 o'clock, a.m. in the spacious parlor of the bride's parents was gathered an interested throng of more than three score relatives and friends. Mrs. G. R. Vinson artistically and tastefully presided at the piano, and as her skillful fingers struck the first chords of Mendelssohn's wedding march each groom presented himself with his perspective bride, amidst a solemn host of expectants. The well known, but never tried ceremony of the Methodist church was pronounced with unusual fervor and eloquence by Rev. O. F. Williams, pastor of the M. E. C. Rich South, and in a silence almost painful, each happy couple was started on life's journey to husband and wife. A carriage was in readiness to take them to the railroad depot, where they took the train for the Queen City, to remain several days.

The brides are sisters, both very young women of attractive personal steering worth and accomplishments, and of amiable and amiable dispositions. Mr. Kinney is a book keeper in the First National Bank of Louisa, is a gentleman in every sense of the word, a career and industrial breadth and a husband of whom any woman might well be proud. Mr. Gault by honest industry and business tact, holds a fine trade in the Rocker Store of this place, and stands high in the estimation of the public as a man of strict integrity. Both have a wide circle of admiring friends and acquaintances, and louise expects cordial welcome to the home coming of these exceptionally favored young people.

Elegant Reception.

The following from the Washington Correspondence of the Courier Journal has been received:

An affair of distinction was the reception given by Hon. and Mrs. Elmer Anthony Hughes at their residence in compliment to their house party. Among whom were Mrs. Clarence Lakin, of Cincinnati; Mrs. Lucy Goodester, of Cincinnati; Mrs. S. H. Ford of Mt. Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. Houghson, recently home-sick, are both Kentuckians. Mr. Hughes, being a member of the Legislature at one time, has represented the Huntington, W. Va., district in Congress for a number of years.

"Just received my second shipment of Pure Maple Sugar and Syrup direct from the orchard. Wm. N. Sullivan. Bring me your produce and get good goods in exchange. W. N. Sullivan Fresh Bread at Sullivan's."

The attorney down laid up at this port Monday night, the Ohio being too low at the mouth of Scioto.

The mercury registered two degrees above zero Wednesday morning, the lowest point reached this year.

"Just received my second shipment of Pure Maple Sugar and Syrup direct from the orchard. Wm. N. Sullivan."

The NEWS office can furnish sealed for Notaries, Lodges, and offices of all kinds. Also, any kind of office requisition.

Quarterly meeting at the M. E. Church, South next Sunday. Rev. J. W. Hampton will be Presiding Elder. Danaher's place.

Morris McClure and Mrs. Elizabeth McElroy and family have decided to move to Central City, W. Va., where Mr. McClure has employment.

Mrs. Griswold, wife of the pastor of the M. E. Church, has been at the point of death for a week or more, but now shows slight improvement.

Will Rose, clerk of the freight depot, has gone to Prestonsburg to take charge of the office there, and James Rose is in the Louisa freight depot, assistant to Agent Justice.

If you boys and girls who are skating on the ice think of having a group picture made go up there first. Some young lads and lasses in this city find the ice piling, and our wives are drowned.

Charles Moore, infant, scrofula and moral pervert is dead. We have been prepared for this some time, as 18 months ago a down the river paper stated that his recovery was "not only uncertain, but very doubtful."

Moses, Sam and Charles May and J. C. Thomas were here a few days ago, superintending the work of getting up a large load of machinery from the lock site at Saltwater. Their work on the Ohio lock near Wheeling will begin at once.

The trimming of grapevines should be done while the ground is cold. The portions cut away, as well as the roots around each vine, should be burned. If there are evidences of rot last season, it will also be an advantage to scatter a streaked line around the base of each plant.

John W. Ramsey, a section man on the C. & O., was painfully hurt last Saturday by a hand car near Gallop. He was brought to this place and examined by the Company Surgeon who sent him to the C. & O. hospital in Huntington. Ramsey's home is at East Point.

Mr. O'Neill, a contractor-carpenter, who has done a great deal of work for the Northern Coal and Coke Co., has rented the M. S. Burns house at the south-west corner of Main Street and Franklin streets and will occupy it as a residence as soon as some repairs are finished. The family is now in Ironton.

William S. Dugger died in the Philippines Islands last Thursday. He had served two terms in the United States army but at the time of his death he was a clerk at headquarters. He formerly lived in Louisville, but in late years he was a resident of Ashland, to which place his body will be brought for interment.

TYPEWRITER FOR SALE.

One noisy typewriter $100 machine, need not little. Good condition. Price $33. 4 month's time.

The City Fathers.

This body met in regular monthly session at the city building Tuesday night. Every member was in his chair when Mayor Snyder stepped forward and got it. The transactions which followed were mostly routine, such as calling the roll, reading the minutes, receiving reports of committees, allowing claims, and such. An ordinance was passed making it a fine of $5 and costs for any one to draw water from a hydrant not his own. Marshal Stone made a statement to the effect that he could not afford to set a Marshal for the present allowance. Council then agreed to allow him the job of lighting the street lamps, but for one month only, as an experiment. Committee will find it difficult matter to get a Marshal worthy of the name. Stone has certainly done well, officially, during his term so far. An effort was made to raise the "Old" just a little bit, by repealing the Sunday ordinance in whole or in part, but the effort was a very much failure.

Hoist Your Signals.

Patrons of the free rural mail delivery should always raise the signal on their boxes when they place mail in them for the carrier to collect. Carriers are not required to look in boxes where the signal is not displayed signifying that there is mail there. When they have nothing to deliver and no signal is displayed they pass the boxes by and save much time on the trip which would be lost by stopping at every box, needless to say. The person who depends much for collection and does not display the signal can only blame himself if his mail is not picked up on the first trip.

Render To Caesar.

The things which are Caesar's, not no more. We want due credit for pretty girls and fine timber, for our smart men and magnificient minds, but don't, please don't, say print or otherwise, that every French stranger who puts a pistol on Mr. Callisworth for about a week. Don't say that every French who has off a street car for disorderly conduct, "falls from Sandy." He is as apt to come from Huntington, Ohio, or to "fall" from Ashland or Lexington or from Huntington or Catlettsburg.

Death at Fallsburg.

J. Campbell, father-in-law of A. Callisworth, of Fallsburg, died suddenly at the latter's home Wednesday. The body was taken to the home of the deceased for burial. He lived 40 miles back of Huntington, W. Va., and had been visiting the family of Mr. Callisworth for about a week. He was a sufferer from kidney disease and his death is supposed to have been the result of that disease. The Star Hardware Company delivered a casket to Fallsburg Wednesday night,

Bankruptcy Sale.

The stock of merchandise of T. J. Spencer at Thelma post-office, Butcher station, Johnson County, Ky., will be sold at that place on Feb. 23, 1866, at 10:30 a.m., to the highest and best bidding good personal security being required of the purchaser. The terms of sale will be three, six, nine and twelve months. The stock involves $129,00 and consists of books, show, dry goods, notions, hats, clothing, groceries, hardware, drugs, etc. C. T. Rule, Trustee.

Miss Mabel Butler Entertained.

The American Flavus and the Blue Nose Club were entertained by Mrs. Mabel Butler at the home of Mr. Claude L. Miller last Saturday night.

There were some unique features offered for the amusement of the guests, among the offerings being an advertisement guessing match.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Mabel Butler, pink gown paraded with ribbons. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Calfee, the latter in white lace over green silk; Mrs. Gilbert, white satin; Miss Mary Gilbert, white lace; Mrs. A. O. Stanley, white satin and lace; Mrs. Smith Trimble, Rosita Hart of Flemingsburg. The diplomatic and senatorial corps were largely represented in the company.

Free Tobacco Seed.

I can furnish to all who order 2 lbs. of the Agriculture Department sufficient to plant a package of tobacco seed from three to five acres of land. These seeds are not for general distribution and will be furnished only upon order from me.

J. H. Bennett

M. C. Ninth Kentucky Division.

Bishop Burton.

It should not be forgotten that this distinguished prelate will be here next Monday night holding services in the M. E. Church. His ability and worth are well known in Lexington and he will doubtless be greeted by a large audience. The proceeds of the offering will be devoted to the Bishop's missionary fund.

A large number of teachers and students have already entered school here and will continue through the Normal term also. The public school will be in session until the last of March. The prospects are that the Normal School will be a very successful one. Those having boarding or rooms to offer particularly let the fact be known to Prof. Thompson and Elkes.

Sunday had up its business-churches last week, and as a result a big lot of timber went out. There were over a hundred rafts at one time between Prestonsburg and the mouth of the river. A large amount of floating is waiting for the February-March tide, and timber men are on the anxious seat.

William S. Dugger died in the Philippines Islands last Thursday. He had served two terms in the United States army but at the time of his death he was a clerk at headquarters. He formerly lived in Louisville, but in late years he was a resident of Ashland, to which place his body will be brought for interment.

Raising Tomatoes.

Of course there are some doubts Thomas, who have but little faith in growing tomatoes for sale to a factory. These have probably had no experience along this line, simply owing to that large class, who decline to take any sort of chance whatever. People who gave it a fair trial here last summer are going to venture more extensively this year, and this ought to be a clinching argument for the canary. It beats all other crops as a money producer. A late exchange has this item:

J. C. Barnes, of Breckinridge county, $50 per acre out of tomatoes, while his corn crop yielded $20 per acre.

Make your preparations now for beginning a crop of tomatoes. Select your ground, buy your seed, talk with those who have a success of it last year, and next year you will repeat 75% work on a larger scale.

Farmer's Institute.

The first annual State Farmers Institute will be held at Frankfort, February 27, 28 and March 1, under the auspices of the State Department of Agriculture, Labor and Education. An election of officers will be held.

Each county in the State will be represented, and each will have one voice on the question of organization. Arrangements are being made to have delegations from every section of such county present.

Gov. Wickham will be invited to deliver an address of welcome for the State, and Mayor E. E. Hunt, of Frankfort, will make the address of welcome for the city.
